The resident understands and agrees, however, that reassignment does not preclude the university from separately and additionally pursuing judicial action, termination of the contract, and/or other available university or other action.

- C. The procedures for reassignment are as follows:

- i. Recommendation for reassignment will be made by a hall director, the appropriate assistant director of Residence Life, or the director of Residence Life.

Residence Life will talk with the resident before making a decision on reassignment.

 3. Residence Life reserves the right to temporarily reassign the resident to a new room during the appeal period.

- A. The resident agrees that breach of contract exists when it is determined by the appropriate university official and/or student judicial body that a violation of provisions of this contract or of rules and regulations of the university has occurred.
- B. The resident understands that breach of contract may also result in cancellation of current enrollment, denial of subsequent university registration, forfeiture of the Space Reservation Fee or Security Deposit, liability for rent payments until the contract is assigned to a new resident and/or assessment of 71% of the contract base rate for the remaining term of the undergraduate contract.

23. Resident Responsibilities

- A. The Resident shall:
 - i. Use the premises only for normal residential purposes and not allow any person to occupy the premises other than persons assigned to the premises by the university;

 - vi. Conduct him or herself, and require other persons in the premises with the resident's permission to conduct themselves, in a manner that will not disturb other residents of the peaceful enjoyment of their own premises.

24. Relief from Contract Obligations

- A. Authority for relief from any contract obligations, as outlined in the Contract Addendum, is held solely and exclusively by University Housing.

- B. Relief from contract obligations is not given after the beginning date of the term of contract other than as outlined in the Contract Addendum. The university assumes that the person signing this contract has reviewed his or her financial resources and medical, religious, dietary, and other needs prior to signing this contract.
- C. The resident who moves out of university housing during the term of contract without relief from contract obligations and remains enrolled will continue to be liable for University Housing fees that accrue against his or her account, whether or not the resident uses the services.

25. Termination of Contract

- A. University Housing may initiate a hearing to terminate the resident's contract before the end of its term and require the resident to vacate the premises immediately if the university determines that the resident has:
 - i. Failed to make rent or other payments when due,
 - ii. Failed to maintain eligibility for the applicable housing,
 - iii. Violated any other term or condition of the contract, or
 - iv. Violated the university's Residential Living Handbook, the Community Standards of Conduct, university Code of Student Conduct or any other applicable university rule or policy.
- B. Written notice the contract termination will be placed in the resident's mailbox, hand-delivered, or sent to the resident's official university email address at least ten (10) calendar days prior to the hearing. The notice will state the charge, the date, time, and location of the hearing, and the hearing officer designated to hear the case. The resident shall have a right to be heard, and the hearing procedures shall be consistent with those provided for in Section 3335-23-10 of the university's Code of Student Conduct. If the hearing officer determines to terminate the resident's contract, the resident shall have the right to appeal the decision to the director of student conduct or designee. Any such appeal must be submitted in writing and must be received by the director of student conduct or designee within five (5) business days of the hearing officer's decision. The decision of the director of student conduct or designee shall be final.

- C. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Office of Student Life Student Conduct may also terminate a resident's contract before the end of its terms and require the resident to vacate the premises immediately if the resident is found in violation of the university's Code of Student Conduct following a hearing conducted pursuant to the Code of Student Conduct.
- D. In the event of such a termination, the resident shall remain liable for rent and any other applicable payments through the date of termination and for any damages or losses resulting from the resident's breach of these terms and conditions.

- E. The resident understands that a temporary denial of access to the residence halls or apartment pursuant to an interim suspension does not constitute a termination of the Housing Contract.
- F. Unless the resident makes other arrangements in writing with the Housing Services Office prior to vacating their room or apartment, any personal property remaining in the premises after the contract has been terminated by either party, the resident has turned in the keys to the premises, or the contract term has expired shall be presumed to be abandoned. The university may, without liability, dispose of it as the university sees fit. The university reserves the right to assess the resident for the cost of removal of abandoned property.

26. Acts of God

If either party is prevented from, or delayed in, completing performance of any or all of its obligations under the Housing Contract (other than payment of rent and fees) by an act of God or any other occurrence beyond the party's control, including but not limited to any further conditions arising out of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the party will be excused from performance for as long as it is reasonably necessary to complete performance.

27. Waiver

No waiver of any default in the performance of the Housing Contract between the university and the resident shall be effective unless in writing and signed by the waiving party. The waiver of a particular default in the performance of the contract shall not constitute a waiver of any other or subsequent default. The resort to a particular remedy upon a default shall not constitute a waiver of any other available remedies.

28. Severability

If any provision of the contract between the university and the resident is determined to be invalid or unenforceable, the remainder of the contract shall not be affected and shall remain in effect.

29. Entire Agreement

These terms and conditions, together with the Housing Contract and acceptance forms, contain the entire contract between the university and the resident and supersede any and all prior agreements or representations between the parties pertaining to the same subject matter. The university may, in its discretion, increase the rent or otherwise alter the terms and conditions of the contract effective upon the commencement of any renewal term.
